HUSTON IN CONTEMPT.

SERVED WITH A WARRANT BY SHERIFF FIGHTMASTER.

Logan County's Attorney Must Appear in Judge Scott's Court at Oklahoma City Next Tuesday.

It seems that the Oklahoma City authorities intend to do a little habas corpus and contempt business on their own hook in retaliation for the work done by Sheriff Painter, Deputy Van Voorhees and Attorney Huston in connection with the indictment returned against E. M. Beall by the grand jury on the charge of killing Lawyer McKennon.

Yesterday Attorney Reddick and Sheriff Fightmaster came to the city from Oklahoma City. The officer was armed with a warrant for County Attorney Huston. The instrument was issued by Judge Scott of the Third district court and charges Huston with contempt in causing Deputy Sheriff Van Voorhees to serve a capias for Beall. The writ is returnable next Tuesday morning, when Attorney Huston must appear and show cause. There promises to be some "times" in connection with this noted case before it is concluded.

AN EXPERIENCE QUITE NOVEL.

A Train Load of Passengers Spent a Weary Week in the Mountains.

Colonel R. C. Duncan of Bradstreet's was in the city last evening. He returned Thursday from a trip to California, and on the way home he had a novel, if not altogether pleasant experience. While in the Rocky mountains the Santa Fe train on which he was traveling was flagged at a small station 7,000 feet above the sea level and held for seven days while the tracks, which had been torn away in whole sections by a washout, were being repaired. A cloud burst of remarkable volume and power did the damage, and an Indian lake, high up in the mountains, was broken open by the raging waters and all its contents joined the deluge. The train, in some instances, was carried fifty yards from its original location. The station where the train stopped comprised a depot, grocery store, laundry, etc., all in one room; and there 360 passengers spent a very weary week, completely shut off from communication with the outer world. The telegraph wires were down, and as trains could not run no papers were obtainable. Meals were seventy-five cents each, but after the first two days, and a great big kick, the railroad company footed the board bills.

REV. KING RETAINED.

The Rev. W. T. King was unanimously chosen Presbyterian missionary by the Oklahoma Presbytery at its recent meeting held at Edmond, October 29. Early in the spring Rev. King accepted a call from Silver City, New Mexico, and had made all arrangements to go thither, when he received a better offer from the board of Home Missions, asking him to delay his departure, as a request had been made to retain him in Oklahoma. His acceptance of this responsible position is a source of gratification to his numerous friends in this city, as he will reside here.

It is reported that a man in Oklahoma, who has been using Prof. Snow's chinch bug infection, has discovered that the same disease can be communicated to the squash or pumpkin bug. This gentleman has a large field of pumpkins and the bugs were destroying his vines. He killed every one of them in four days with the chinch bug infection. This is almost as important a discovery as the original one.—Kansas Farmer.
